Approval notice. This proposed revision preserves the intent of the approved source policy and adds controls commonly expected in a mature policy framework. It does not replace version 2.0 until formally approved. Applicable law and written employment terms prevail where they provide a higher standard or different mandatory requirement.

Objective

This policy establishes a consistent recruitment and selection process so that hiring decisions respond to an approved business need, assess job-related requirements fairly, protect candidate information, and produce a clear written offer and onboarding handoff.

Scope

The policy applies to permanent, temporary, part-time, intern, and contract hiring conducted directly or through an approved recruiter. It covers workforce requisition, sourcing, screening, interview, assessment, verification, approval, offer, records, and candidate communication.

Principles

- A vacancy must have an approved Resource Requirement, budget, reporting line, employment type, location, and job description before recruitment begins.
- Selection criteria must be job-related, documented, consistently applied, and free from unlawful discrimination, retaliation, conflicts of interest, or favoritism.
- Candidates may request a reasonable adjustment for the recruitment process through Human Resources; the request will be handled confidentially and will not disadvantage the candidate.
- Candidates will not be charged recruitment fees by the company or an agent acting on its behalf.
- Candidate data will be collected and retained only for defined recruitment purposes and accessed only by authorized persons.

Roles and Responsibilities

Role	Responsibilities
Hiring manager	Defines the business need and job requirements, nominates qualified panel members, participates in structured assessment, and documents the decision.
Human Resources	Validates approval, manages sourcing and communication, protects candidate data, trains panels, monitors consistency, completes checks, and issues offers.
Interview panel	Uses approved criteria and questions, declares conflicts, records independent evidence-based feedback, and protects confidentiality.
Approvers	Confirm headcount, compensation, employment terms, and exception authority before commitment.
Recruitment agency	Must be approved, follow company fairness and privacy requirements, charge no candidate fees, and provide accurate candidate information.

Recruitment Process

1. Approve the Resource Requirement, job description, essential and desirable criteria, grade, budget, location, employment type, target timeline, and panel.
2. Source candidates through approved channels. Resumes received at careers@nhktechnologies.com or another approved channel are stored in the central recruitment repository, not personal folders.
3. Human Resources prepares and maintains recruitment tracking data using role-relevant fields and access controls.
4. Screen candidates against the documented requirements and record a concise reason for progression or rejection.
5. Conduct structured interviews and assessments. Questions and scoring must relate to the role; panels should avoid unnecessary personal, family, health, religion, caste, age, or other protected information.
6. Complete required approvals and proportionate verification before confirming employment.
7. Issue a written offer stating role, location, compensation, start date, conditions, and the time allowed for acceptance.
8. Transfer the accepted candidate securely to the onboarding process and close recruitment records appropriately.

Interview Framework

The standard process has a maximum of three rounds: Technical L1, Technical L2, and Manager Round. Human Resources may approve fewer rounds where evidence is sufficient or additional rounds where complexity requires them, provided the candidate is informed and unnecessary delay is avoided.

Technical L1 Round

The interviewer evaluates the candidate using the approved feedback form. Human Resources reviews completeness and either communicates rejection respectfully or schedules Technical L2 based on availability.

Technical L2 Round

The interviewer evaluates deeper role competence using the approved criteria. Human Resources reviews the feedback and either communicates rejection or schedules the Manager Round.

Manager Round

The manager evaluates role fit against documented responsibilities, ways of working, and business needs. A positive decision proceeds to approved compensation discussion, verification, and joining-date confirmation.

Assessments, Automation, and Artificial Intelligence

Assessments must be relevant, reasonably accessible, secure, and proportionate. Automated or AI-assisted screening may support but must not make an unreviewed final decision. Human Resources must assess data use, explainability, bias, vendor security, and a route for human review before use.

Background and Reference Checks

Checks must be lawful, relevant to the role, disclosed to the candidate, and completed with required consent. Adverse information will be assessed for accuracy, recency, role relevance, and context. The candidate should have a reasonable opportunity to correct or explain material discrepancies before an offer is withdrawn, subject to safety and legal constraints.

Offer and Pre-Employment Communication

Only Human Resources or another expressly authorized person may make an employment offer or compensation commitment. Verbal discussions remain subject to written approval. Offer conditions, expiry, probation where applicable, required documents, and consequences of material misrepresentation must be stated clearly.

Candidate Privacy and Records

Candidate records will be accurate, access-controlled, retained for an approved period, and securely deleted or anonymized when no longer required. Candidate information must not be used for unrelated purposes without a valid basis. Interview notes must be factual and suitable for disclosure to authorized reviewers.

Conflicts, Complaints, and Exceptions

Panel members must disclose personal, financial, reporting, or family conflicts to Human Resources. Candidates may raise a process or accessibility concern through the recruitment contact without retaliation. Exceptions require written Human Resources and business approval, with the reason and risk controls recorded.

Metrics and Review

Human Resources will monitor timely completion, source quality, acceptance, candidate experience, process consistency, and any identified adverse patterns using aggregate data. This policy will be reviewed annually.

Reference Framework

These sources informed the proposed controls as non-binding benchmarks. They do not replace applicable law, employment contracts, or approved company policy.
